

John GEOGHEGAN

I am a self employed Consultant Electrical Engineer with more than 40 years of Professional Power Engineering experience at National and Local level now providing Engineering services to Local and Regional Authorities. I have been involved in major power projects, the management of our local power distribution system and am committed to the electricity supply industry and its involvement with NZ's economic development.

I have been a HBPCT Trustee since 2008 and seek re-election to continue your representation.

I firmly believe that the present Trust ownership should be retained and that all the benefits of such ownership should be returned to you the owners of Unison. I propose to see to it that the customers continue to receive power supply at the best possible costs and reliability and that the directors of the Company continue to grow the business to the customers economic advantage at all times.
