

Anna LORCK

Anna is one of the Hawke's Bay's most experienced media and communications specialists with a history of support for local representation.

She has played an active role in keeping power consumers informed through media reporting and commentary, and brings first-hand experience having previously worked in the business as Unison's Communications Manager.

Anna believes in local ownership of our electricity and fibre broadband networks, and sees this as vitally important for Unison to remain a strong regional contributor in leading and enabling economic growth and greater employment for improved community and social wellbeing.

She wants to ensure Unison continues taking every opportunity to deliver greater value to its shareholder enhancing sustained dividend returns to consumers.

Anna lives in Hastings with a family of five daughters, is a principal director of Attn! Communications Ltd for 10 years and a Hawke's Bay Chamber of Commerce Board Member with five years' service.
